DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 11 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would appear to be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10, 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO 03/022736 in view of JP 2002-307053 and JP 60-122337.

WO 03/022736 discloses that the merit of water discharge in the product of an ozonated water is that production and dissolution of the ozone take place at the same time (page 4, lines 10-13). It is disclosed that about 2 liters of an ozonated water with 6 mg/l concentration was produced (page 4, lines 15,16). It is disclosed that fine bubble can be produced by a bubble generator (page 9, lines 13-30). An apparatus is disclosed where the water discharge system has two electrodes insulated with at least one dielectric and an insulator body surrounding the metal electrodes, the water discharge system producing through a dielectric barrier discharge the ozone and ozonated water (Claim 1).

JP 2002-307053 disclose the use of ultrasonic vibrations to effect the ozone bubbles (claims, paragraph 0026).

JP 60-122337 disclose the use of a rotation shaft with a screw blade which has thin holes to effect the ozone bubbles (claims, page 3, line 8 to page 4, line 16).

WO 03/0227356 disclose the production of ozone bubbles and ozonated water where the a dielectric barrier is used to effect the ozone bubbles. The difference between WO 03/0227356 and the claimed invention is that WO 03/0227356 does not expressly disclose the use of ultrasonic vibrations or circulating screwblades which have holes to effect the bubbles. However, the prior art amply suggests the same as JP 2002-307053 disclose the use of ultrasonic vibrations to effect the ozone bubbles and JP 60-122337 disclose the use of a rotation shaft with a screw blade which has thin holes to effect the ozone bubbles. As such, one of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to modify the prior art as above with the expectation by use of the same that there would be increased dissolution of the ozone bubbles into the water.

Therefore, the claimed invention, as a whole, would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, because every element of the invention has been collectively taught by the combined teachings of the references.
